

Herbert Willmore

Diagnostic Study

[undated]

Diagnostic Study

Medical

Psychological

Vocational

Educational

Cultural

Social

Environmental

Basic Conditions of Eligibility

- (1) Presence of physical or mental disability.
- (2) Existence of substantial handicap to employment
- (3) Reasonable expectation that vocational rehabilitation services may render the individual fit to engage in a gainful occupation.

OR

- (4) Inability to make a determination as to the third condition without an extended evaluation.

Certification of Eligibility for Rehabilitation Services:

Prior to and as a basis for formulating the vocational rehabilitation plan, it shall be adequate to provide the basis for:

- (1) Appraising the current general health status of the individual.
- (2) Determine how and to what extent the disabling condition may be corrected or removed by physical restoration services.
- (3) Selecting an employment objective commensurate with the individual's interests, capacities and limitations.

Rehabilitation Plan Shall:

- (1) Be based on information gathered in the diagnostic process and extended evaluation, if provided.

(2) Specify the vocational rehabilitation objective (or tentative objective), the services necessary to accomplish the client's rehabilitation, and arrangements for providing the services.

(3) Be formulated with the assistance of consultants when necessary and with the client's participation.

Certification of Acceptability for Extended Evaluation

Extended Evaluation Plan Shall:

(1) Be based on data secured in the preliminary diagnostic study.

(2) Indicate the nature of the vocational rehabilitation services necessary to determine the rehabilitation potential of the individual and the arrangements for providing such necessary services.

(3) Be formulated with the assistance of appropriate agency consultants when necessary and with the client's participation.

Diagnostic Study

Medical

1. General Medical Examination

A general medical examination, including medical history, physical exam, urinalysis and recommendations constitutes minimum requirements.

2. Specialist exams as needed.

3. Clinical lab tests as necessary.

Psychological

1. Personality

2. Intelligence level

3. Vocational aptitudes and interests.

Vocational

Work experience

Educational

Achievement

Cultural

Social

Personal and social adjustment.

Environmental

Employment opportunities.